Happy New Year

Mayor and Council,

We've been living on the same street as the transition house since it first opened. When my husband and I first learned that the transition house was opening on our street, we were very concerned and thought we'd have a lot of strange people hanging around; perhaps increased crime. However, it did not affect our lives at all. Aside from having a lot of cars parked on the street when the team would meet and also seeing police cars parked outside the house from time to time, we were not personally affected in any way!

Thank you
